Integrated Visual Collaboration for the Acute Care Enterprise

HUMAN CIRCUIT

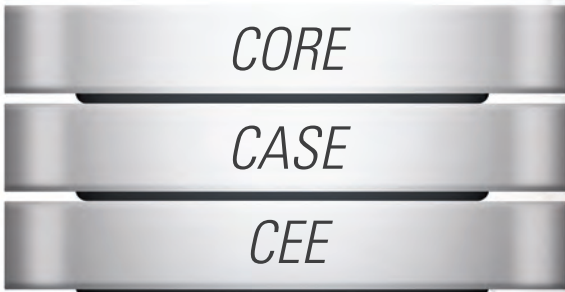

Higher quality healthcare and greater efficiency demand better information sharing across the acute care continuum.

Departments, as well as remote facilities, need to communicate and coordinate care while maximizing productivity, efficiency and workflow. To address these needs, Human Circuit developed ACUMEN.

ACUMEN is a portable, easy-to-use, point-of-care visual capture and control system that can be integrated into a hospital's existing network and clinical information system for on-line sharing. ACUMEN offers expansion of resources and extended reach of expertise with its small footprint, flexible configuration and scalability.

Designed to optimize the way acute care enterprises really work, ACUMEN enables staff to record, stream, share, review, and collaborate using live, high quality video images from any location on any device – including smartphones and tablets – from a web browser.
